Overview

Patriot Platform is a UK far-right network formed in mid-2026 by Daniel Thomas — "Danny Tommo" — the former bodyguard and long-time sidekick of Stephen Yaxley-Lennon (Tommy Robinson). It is not a political party and has no manifesto. Its stated purpose is to unite the country's fragmented local "patriot" groups into a single mobilisable force operating "boots on the ground".

The group's first major public action came on Saturday 5 September 2026, when several hundred masked men dressed head-to-toe in black appeared in Dover at 7am, occupied roundabouts and blocked the A20 in both directions, causing a four-mile traffic queue. The following day (Sunday 6 September) the group joined an existing demonstration in Portsmouth, after a "mega-dinghy" carrying around 120–140 asylum seekers was brought into the Solent. Protesters tried to prevent coaches moving arrivals from Eastney marina to an immigration processing centre; riot police used batons and pepper spray, a small number of officers were injured, and vehicles were damaged.

Commentators and monitors describe the Dover/Portsmouth weekend as a genuine shift in UK far-right tactics: away from mass flag-waving demonstrations towards smaller, disciplined, networked, clandestine and quasi-vigilante action, explicitly styled on Oswald Mosley's blackshirts and wrapped in aggressive Christian-nationalist language ("Christ is King"). Anti-fascist monitors HOPE not hate and Searchlight both treat it as significant while noting Tommo's long record of failed and farcical stunts.

Key Figures

Daniel Thomas — "Danny Tommo" (founder and leader)

- Age: 37 (as of September 2026)
- From: Hayling Island, near Portsmouth (privately educated in Hampshire)
- Background: Thought to have served as a tank driver with the King's Royal Hussars before being discharged early on medical grounds. Later ran a roofing firm — RMT Roofing Specialists Ltd — a detail that becomes relevant to the September 2026 Daily Mail row (see below).
- Criminal record: Jailed for two years in 2016 after pleading guilty to attempted kidnapping at knifepoint in a Portsmouth drugs dispute. He and two other men burst into a man's house, wrongly believing he had stolen £10,000 of drugs, and tried to drag him into the street. The judge condemned the three men for their "stupidity"; Tommo was released and describes himself as having "repented" and given his life to Jesus.
- Far-right career: Became close to Tommy Robinson after release; organised the 2018 "Free Tommy" rally in London; was on the platform with Robinson at the July 2024 Whitehall rally; during the August 2024 Southport riots broadcast a video to followers saying "Every city must go up!" — he was not prosecuted while others were jailed for similar incitement.
- 2025–26: Holiday with Robinson in Tenerife (June 2025); joined Ryan Bridge and Elliott Stanley's Raise the Colours for "Operation Overlord II" and an anti-migrant trip to northern France (November 2025); part of a group of 10 British extremists banned from France in January 2026; defied the ban by entering France via Belgium for "Operation Overlord" in January 2026 before being arrested by counter-terror police. Also arrested in Dover in April 2026 over stalking refugees/illegal activity at the port.
- Due in court: October 2026, accused of going into a restricted zone in Dover earlier in 2026 and of threatening behaviour.

- Note on the "Tommo Tapes": Leaked recordings published by Searchlight (May 2026) captured Tommo telling Ryan Bridge it was time to "move away from Tommy", saying he still "loved him to bits" but that Robinson was no longer right for what he wanted to achieve — an early signal of his leadership ambitions.
- Reporting discrepancy: the Guardian describes him as a father of five; The New Arab says father of four.

Named members / inner circle

HOPE not hate has documented that several men "handpicked" for what Tommo calls a rigorously vetted group have serious violent convictions:

- Kevin Jones — Thanet Patriots; attended the first Patriot Platform meeting. In 2018 pleaded guilty to dangerous driving, two counts of wounding and two counts of assault during a drug-fuelled incident in which he attacked his partner and her mother with a bread knife and then drove his father's car into his partner's home. Jailed for three years and four months.
- Adrian Clark — leading Thanet Patriots member; suspended sentence in 2018 for ABH after punching a co-worker several times in the face; prior convictions for common assault and assaulting a police officer. Filmed in August 2026 saying: "we've all done stupid shit, but if any of these other people want to sit out there and say 'oh you're a domestic abuser', what do you think these people on the boats have a better criminal record than me? You having a laugh?" — while promoting Patriot Platform and the Kalergi Plan conspiracy theory.
- Alby Brannan — attended the second meeting of "vetted" members; pleaded guilty in 2024 to violent disorder after throwing fireworks at the Potters International Hotel in Aldershot, which houses asylum seekers.
- Luke Jackson, Billy Cooper and "Sid" — South London Patriots; all part of Tommo's January 2026 Operation Overlord trip to Calais in defiance of the French ban.
- Jay Mills — Christian nationalist from Ashford, Kent; led Patriots United Kingdom, which briefly affiliated to Patriot Platform in late July 2026 before withdrawing (see Timeline).

Constituent Groups

Patriot Platform functions as a network of reps from pre-existing local groups rather than a single hierarchical organisation. Groups named in reporting include:

- Thanet Patriots
- Watford Patriots
- Bournemouth Patriots
- South East Patriots
- South London Patriots

- North-West Patriots
- Surrey Patriots
- Chertsey Patriots
- Freelance Patriots
- Patriots United Kingdom (affiliated late July 2026, left within days)

Its appeal is primarily southern England, with some north-west representation.

Ideology & Rhetoric

The group has no manifesto. Its website (patriotplatform.co.uk) uses five one-word values — Freedom, Fairness, Family, Faith, Homeland — and slogans such as "Real People. Real Britain. Real Talk.", "The time for polite silence is over", "Love of country. Not hate." and "Together, we will take our country back." It offers three steps for recruits: Register → Stay informed (email and SMS updates) → Get involved.

Key framings:

- Christian nationalism — Tommo calls it a "patriotic army" of Christian men: "We're doing this under Christianity. We're doing this with Christian British and English men. We're not doing this with thugs." Chants at Dover included "Christ is King"; some marchers wore silver crosses. Donors to his fundraising pages can press a button to pledge prayer instead of money.
 - Protecting women and children — the central emotional pitch, with manosphere undertones (the "misogynistic suggestion that women are helpless people needing to be protected", per University of Bath researcher Darja Wischerath).
 - Direct action over protest — "For too long we've been walking down roads and waving flags and thinking this is somehow going to save us"; "Migrants are having a detrimental effect on the safety of our women and children."
 - Discipline and "quality over quantity" — Tommo claims vetting, "clear rules, no shouting, no alcohol, no flag waving, no drugs", lawyers on call, and says he wants "discipline" rather than "the drinkers" and "the violence". Monitors call this claim belied by the criminal records of his named members.
 - Vague menace — "I know exactly what needs to be done. Now is the time to act"; "once the message is sent once, imagine the sheer numbers that will be sent on the second, the third, the fourth message."

Structure, Tactics & Money

- Cell/network model. Analysts describe Patriot Platform as connecting disparate local "patriot" formations rather than building a single organisation — a relatively small, committed set of activists travelling between coastal flashpoints, communicating privately, and drawing local support on arrival.

- Uniform and anonymity. Black clothing, balaclavas and gloves. Tommo says the coverings are necessary because "the left routinely puts lives at risk" by publishing addresses. In Portsmouth he said the group was non-violent and acting within the law, and blamed violence on "lefties trying to make us look bad".
- Mobilisation. Short-notice, algorithm-driven flashmobbing. Kent Police described the Dover action as "spontaneous"; the local MP Mike Tapp called that claim into question — "A clearly coordinated protest is not 'spontaneous'." HOPE not hate subsequently reported that Kent Police had been tipped off about the mobilisation.
- Livestreaming. Tommo livestreams extensively across X, YouTube, Instagram and Facebook. His footage of the Dover weekend has been reported at over a million views in total; one four-hour livestream of the Portsmouth seafront operation drew 700,000+ views.
- Money. A £4.99/month subscription on his YouTube channel; monthly Patriot Platform fundraising targets (an initial £5,000/month target reportedly fell short) with stated costs for buses, accommodation, "secure facilities", fuel, studio equipment and marine equipment; and in September 2026 a crowdfunder to relocate his mother that had raised over £62,000 by Friday 11 September.
- Historical funding. The New Arab reported that US court documents show Tommo received a $32,000 grant in 2018 from the Middle East Forum, a US-based anti-Islam and strongly pro-Israel think tank, to fund the "Free Tommy" rally. The relationship later broke down, with MEF accusing him of misappropriating at least $7,000 for personal use — allegations aired in the think tank's unsuccessful lawsuit against its then communications chief, Lisa Barbounis.
- Other money disputes. Tommo's partnership with Ryan Bridge's Raise the Colours collapsed after Bridge refused to hand over part of online fundraising proceeds to pay Tommo a salary; Tommo complained publicly that he was "skint".

Platform, Domain & Funding Infrastructure

Verified 12 September 2026 from public registry and page-source data:

- Domain. `patriotplatform.co.uk` was registered on 18 May 2026 through Tucows, with nameservers `ns6.wixdns.net` / `ns7.wixdns.net` — i.e. the site is Wix-hosted. Nominet records that the registrant's name and address were validated against a third-party data source on 18 May 2026, so the registrant is a verified real identity, though not published. Registration predates the public launch, matching Searchlight's account that the project launched at the end of May.
- The funnel is a commercial CRM. The sign-up form is served by GoHighLevel / LeadConnector (`api.leadconnectorhq.com/widget/form/uN8mVQB1MfLcpEZ2VI4p`), with Stripe and PayPal also present in the page source. In plain terms: the recruitment list, the email/SMS broadcast, the vetting questionnaire and the payments are all outsourced to an off-the-shelf marketing-automation platform. That is where the "45,000 sign-ups" actually live.

- The site itself is thin. No `robots.txt` and no `sitemap.xml` — a single-page Wix brochure site with the stated three-step funnel: Register (name and location) → Stay informed (email and SMS) → Get involved.
- Fundraising. The appeal for Tommo's mother is hosted on GiveSendGo — a US platform popular with the Christian right — and has passed £65,000 against an original £10,000 target (Searchlight, 11 Sep 2026). Separately, his YouTube channel sells a £4.99/month membership, and Patriot Platform's own stated monthly fundraising target was £5,000.
- Owned infrastructure is an explicit ask. A 25 August video appeals publicly for supporters' boats, RIBs, mini buses and coaches — the movement is crowd-sourcing its operational assets rather than buying them.

Primary Sources: The Movement's Own Output

YouTube — @DannyTommo is the movement's principal distribution channel: roughly 60 uploads in the recent window, routinely into six figures of views. The titles are the movement's own framing, so they are reproduced verbatim. (View counts captured 12 September 2026.)

What the channel shows:

- Operational appeals, not just propaganda. The boat/RIB/coach appeal and the recruitment-day logistics are published openly, which is how the mobilisations were assembled without a public call to attend.
- A five-offence charge sheet. A video title states Tommo has been charged with five offences over the Dover operation, with prison "on the table" — a detail not carried in the national coverage reviewed. This sits alongside the October 2026 Dover hearing.
- Court appearances are content. The Margate court appearance on 27 August was filmed and posted as a rallying cry.
- US Christian-nationalist adjacency. The channel carries content promoting Tim Ballard (the Sound of Freedom figure) in London, and a video on the Big Church Festival — the bridge beyond UK borders.
- Reform adjacency. The Zia Yusuf encounter on 7 September lands during Reform's conference week.
- Northern Ireland. A cluster of Belfast uploads (police searching for explosives, "the aftermath of the bus being blown up") ties the channel back to the June 2026 Belfast violence Tommo has cited as an inspiration.
- The "12 patriots" arrests. Videos both announce 12 activists arrested on "terrorism" charges and celebrate them being cleared — the British Security Project case.
- Note: YouTube does not expose a subscriber count to the scraper used here, so the follower figure in the header remains unverified.

5 Sep 2026	Dover. Hundreds of masked men in black block the A20 into the port; 4-mile queues; "blood is on your hands" sprayed outside a processing facility; no arrests
5 Sep 2026	Kent PCC Matthew Scott issues a statement condemning the "intimidating tactics"; Tommo posts that the Dover action is the group's "warning"
6 Sep 2026	Portsmouth. Tommo livestreams a call-out — "I need every man and his dog that is around Portsmouth to block the entry to Eastney. These coaches cannot leave." ~140 people landed at Eastney; hundreds block coaches, police cars attacked, dispersal order issued, protest runs until ~3am, ~40 people in the water. Tommo accosts a police officer ("Do you know who I am?"), vomits on camera, then spends hours in the Solent
7 Sep 2026	Hansard, Commons debate "Dover and Portsmouth: Protests" — policing minister Sarah Jones names Patriot Platform; Kent PCC issues a further statement: Kent Police "acknowledged that an opportunity was missed that could have enabled the Force to mobilise sooner" , and an independent College of Policing learning review is commissioned

Date	Event
9 Sep 2026	Dozens of masked men outside Associated Newspapers (Daily Mail) HQ in London; Tommo livestreams a 48-hour ultimatum demanding the paper house his mother
10 Sep 2026	Searchlight reveals the Daily Mail never published his mother's street or number — Tommo had registered RMT Roofing Specialists Ltd at her address himself
11 Sep 2026	The GiveSendGo appeal for "Tommo's Mum" passes £65,000 against a £10,000 target (the Guardian reported £62,000 the same day); academic analysis (The Conversation / Nation.Cymru) frames the group as a tactical evolution
11 Sep 2026	A 42-year-old man from Paulsgrove is arrested on suspicion of violent disorder and assaulting a police officer — the first arrest over the Portsmouth disorder
12 Sep 2026	Planned Portsmouth march goes ahead without Tommo. After Hampshire & Isle of Wight Constabulary announce that face coverings will be an arrestable offence under the Crime and Policing Act, Tommo issues an "official statement" that no Patriot Platform organiser, representative, affiliate, steward or speaker will attend. South Coast Patriots and other groups nevertheless march, opposed by a Stand Up to Racism counter-demo; police escort both crowds into the city square, drawing criticism. Coverage describes a much smaller and more subdued event than the previous weekend, with anti-fascists claiming the far right was "humiliated"

Responses

- Nigel Farage (Reform UK) called the tactics "disgusting": "Nobody, at any political protest, whether they're on the left or right, should be wearing balaclavas. It is wrong, it's horrible."
- Shabana Mahmood (Home Secretary) said police should make "full use" of new powers to ban face coverings at protests; the Home Office condemned "the intimidating and thuggish behaviour" and said protest "must never cross a line into disorder". No 10 condemned "thuggish" far-right activists.
- Kent Police faced criticism over intelligence failure; the Kent Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Scott was accused of a "word salad" response. The policing minister made a statement to the Commons and forces were told to improve intelligence gathering.
- Mike Tapp MP (Labour, Dover) called the demonstrators "idiots coming to Dover to cause disruption"; Tony Vaughan MP (Folkestone and Hythe) warned about "significant online coordination" allowing mobilisation "at very short notice and under the radar".

- HOPE not hate (Joe Mulhall) called it "an alarming development" — "much more vigilante in style, and organised in a more clandestine way" — and published the criminal records of handpicked members.
 - Searchlight: "Is Danny Tommo a threat or a clown? Actually, he's a bit of both."
 - Church of England — the bishop of Kirkstall, Arun Arora, said the cross on protest marches is not the cross of Christ "but rather a fashion accessory utilised by opportunists". Theos research lead Madeleine Pennington described a "step-change" in UK Christian nationalism.
 - Academics — William Allchorn (Anglia Ruskin) argues the significance is less whether Patriot Platform survives than whether its networks, tactics and framing get adopted more widely; Beatriz Lopes Buarque (Manchester) highlights algorithmic amplification of racist conspiracy theories; Darja Wischerath (Bath) notes influencer-style content production and manosphere framing.

Official Record

- Hansard, House of Commons, 7 September 2026 — debate "Dover and Portsmouth: Protests". Policing minister Sarah Jones named the group directly: "What we saw in Dover involving Patriot Platform, a far-right group engaging in a lot of racism and thuggery and disrupting...". This is the only Hansard contribution out of 36 keyword matches that names the organisation rather than using "patriot" and "platform" separately.
 - Kent Police and Crime Commissioner, Matthew Scott — two statements, 6 and 7 September 2026. The first condemned "the intimidating tactics used by those gathered" while accepting the right to peaceful protest. The second reports that Kent Police has acknowledged "an opportunity was missed that could have enabled the Force to mobilise sooner", and confirms the PCC has commissioned an independent College of Policing learning review into how intelligence was triaged and the force's communications strategy, promising to hold the Chief Constable to account. This is the clearest official admission that the Dover mobilisation was not adequately anticipated.
 - Hampshire & Isle of Wight Constabulary — announced before the 12 September protests that face coverings would be treated as an arrestable offence under new powers in the Crime and Policing Act, and mapped a protest route "to minimise disruption". A 42-year-old man from Paulsgrove was arrested on suspicion of violent disorder and assaulting a police officer over the 6 September disorder — the first arrest in the case. (The force also reported damage to vehicles and injuries to a small number of officers.)
 - Home Office / No 10 — condemned "the intimidating and thuggish behaviour"; the Home Secretary said police should make "full use" of face-covering powers at protests.

Terminology & Narrative Notes

- "Patriot" is used as a self-designation by the movement and its supporters; this file follows the convention of the existing Politics research corpus by using it as the movement's own term, with "far-right" as the analytical label used by monitors, police and the press.
 - "Masked"/"balaclava" is the key visual signifier, and the focus of police enforcement threats.
 - The movement's self-narrative of discipline and lawfulness is heavily contested; the September 2026 Daily Mail episode (doxxing row that backfired) and the rapid withdrawal of Patriots UK are the main counter-examples cited by monitors.
 - This file is a monitoring profile, not an endorsement of any description given by the group about itself.

Local & Regional Coverage

The national outlets covered Dover, Portsmouth and the Daily Mail row heavily. The local and regional press have material the nationals do not — each affiliated group has a local footprint.

- Basingstoke Gazette — "Anti-migrant group linked to balaclava-clad Dover protest first met in Basingstoke" (12 Sep 2026). Confirms the group's first meeting place; carries the photograph caption "The First Alliance of Patriotic Groups on the Patriot Platform. It's Time to Do Something Different." — the clearest statement of the federation model in the group's own words. — <https://www.basingstokegazette.co.uk/news/26540461.dover-protestors-held-first-meeting-basingstoke/>
- Bournemouth Echo — "Tommy Robinson calls for Bournemouth 'patriots' to march in Portsmouth" (Ross Marshall, 8 Sep 2026). Quotes Robinson's post on X: "All south coast patriot groups are uniting this Saturday in Portsmouth to march on the city. If you can get there, get there. Strength in numbers." Names the Southampton Patriots, Portsmouth Patriots and Bournemouth Patriots and confirms the dispersal order and the ~3am finish. — <https://www.bournemouthecho.co.uk/news/26531128.tommy-robinson-calls-southampton-patriots-march-portsmouth/>
- Watford Observer — "Tommy Robinson associate's Watford video goes viral" (Liam Fitzpatrick, 19 Aug 2026). Covers Tommo's 18 August Instagram/Facebook video promoting the Watford Patriots, watched ~450,000 times across platforms in under 24 hours, and the announcement of an event at an unannounced location that Saturday. — <https://www.watfordobserver.co.uk/news/26477021.tommy-robinson-associates-watford-video-goes-viral/>
- Watford Observer — "Opinion split on Tommy Robinson associate's Watford visit" (19 Aug 2026). Local reaction, including residents calling the movement "disgusting". — <https://www.watfordobserver.co.uk/news/26487903.opinion-split-tommy-robinson-associates-watford-visit/>

- The News (Portsmouth) — running live coverage of the 12 September rival demonstrations ("Anti-immigration and anti-racism protestors descend on city"), plus "New policing powers against face coverings to be enforced at protest in Portsmouth this weekend" and "Police map out protest route to minimise disruption". Article bodies are paywalled; headlines and standfirsts were captured, the body text was not.
- Dorset Echo — local RNLI coverage (Swanage lifeboat campaign passing 10,000 signatures), relevant to the RNLI-intimidation strand of the story rather than to Patriot Platform directly.
- KentOnline site search returned no results and the Surrey Comet has no Patriot Platform coverage at the time of writing — both worth re-checking, since Thanet and Chertsey/Surrey Patriots are among the constituent groups.

Other regional groups identified through social-media monitoring but not yet covered anywhere: Essex Patriots, Kent Patriots, South Coast Patriots (an umbrella of the Portsmouth/Southampton/Bournemouth groups), SouthWest Patriots Alliance (a South West network), North East Patriots (Instagram), and Freelance Patriots.

Public Records Checks

Verified directly against primary registries on 12 September 2026, not taken from press reporting.

- Companies House — RMT Roofing Specialists Ltd, company no. 15260923. Incorporated 5 November 2023; SIC 43910 (roofing activities); registered office is a residential address in Tangmere, Chichester, West Sussex. Status is "Active — Active proposal to strike off", with accounts made up to 30 November 2025 overdue (due 31 August 2026); next confirmation statement due 18 November 2026. This corroborates Searchlight's 10 September claim that Tommo registered his company at his mother's address — and adds a detail not in any coverage reviewed: the company is in the strike-off process with overdue filings. *(Note: the full street address and postcode are deliberately not reproduced here. It is a residential address, and the surrounding story is that his mother was forced out of her home. The registry reference above is enough to verify the claim.)_
- US federal courts — Barbounis v. The Middle East Forum, District Court, E.D. Pennsylvania, docket 2:20-cv-02946, filed 18 June 2020, terminated 7 January 2022. This is the primary source behind The New Arab's $32,000-grant reporting; the RECAP docket and filings are available on CourtListener, so the funding allegations can be read first-hand rather than via the article.
- Wikipedia carries a substantial "Daniel Thomas (activist)" article (Wikidata Q141366502) with a heavy citation trail, plus a separate "Raise the Colours (organisation)" article — useful as a pointer to sources not yet pulled.
- Internet Archive holds three snapshots of patriotplatform.co.uk — 13 June 2026 (pre-launch/hype phase, ~234KB) and 28 August / 8 September 2026 (~383KB). The June capture predates the Dover action and is the earliest public version of the movement's

Notes / Gaps

Sources checked and found empty (12 Sep 2026), so future sweeps don't repeat them:

Byline Times (no Patriot Platform coverage — far-right coverage is about other groups); openDemocracy (no results); GNET and ISD (no results); Theos (nothing naming the group, though their Christian-nationalism project is due); the Centre for Analysis of the Radical Right's old domain radicalrightanalysis.com no longer resolves — the new CARR URL needs finding; KentOnline's internal site search returns nothing; Sky News blocks the Playwright scraper outright (use the Nitter/Phice quotes of Sky's reporting instead); GoFundMe search returns unrelated fundraisers — the appeal is on GiveSendGo, whose own search 404s to automated access.

- Sign-up figures (30,000 → 40,000 → 45,000) are Tommo's own claims and unverified.
- The 12 September Portsmouth march outcome is not yet fully reported; the Platform publicly disowned the event after police threatened mask arrests — but other "South Coast Patriots" elements were still expected on the street.
- The New Arab's MEF funding claim rests on US court filings from a lawsuit MEF lost; treat the $32,000 grant as documented and the misuse allegation as MEF's unproven claim.
- Monitor the RNLI angle: Patriot Platform-aligned activists branding lifeboat volunteers "traitors" and picketing RNLI stations (Poole, 9 Sep) is a distinct escalation from port protests.
- Still open, in priority order: (1) the full RECAP docket in Barbounis v. Middle East Forum — the $32,000 grant and the $7,000 misappropriation allegation read first-hand; (2) whether the Middle East Forum's own IRS 990 filings (EIN 237749796, Philadelphia) disclose anything on the 2018 grant — note they are unlikely to, since 990s do not itemise grants to individuals, so the court record remains the primary source; (3) the College of Policing learning review when published; (4) the October 2026 Dover hearing; (5) whether "#PatriotPlatform Designated Area Groups" gets used as the formal cell structure — supporters talk of it as a voting bloc being built for elections ("only 4 weeks been live"), which would move it from street movement to electoral vehicle; (6) the closed spaces — no public Telegram or Discord channel was found, so organising runs through the Wix/GoHighLevel funnel and private groups, and the leaked-screenshot traffic on X and Facebook is the only visible edge of it.
